Cecil Sly Families,

It's a privilege to highlight a superhero in our community, both in our schools and at the local police department. SRO (Senior Resource Officer) Jeff Coffman is always ready to step in and serve. This photo shows Officer Coffman making a special visit to the first grade students talking about safety with strangers. First grade curriculum includes study of communities and the people that make up a safe and healthy town. No request is too small for Officer Coffman or too large. He's on the spot when things get rough and he's there for practicing safe procedures. There are many things you can count on with his service but one in particular is his commitment to the kids of Crook County. Thank you for joining me with a shout out of thanks to Jeff. His service to the schools and to his town is clearly not just a job, it's part of his personal commitment to shaping the future.

Thank you Officer Coffman from your fans at Cecil Sly Elementary.

Your Principal - Jim Bates

A note from PE and Mr. Yuma

PE is off to a great start this year. All students started the year learning procedures and expectations and then began developing soccer-related skills. Since, our 3-5 students have been working toward improving their health-related fitness while our k-2 students have been developing locomotor skills. Looking ahead, students will continue with fitness testing, locomotor skill development, throwing and catching and then basketball skills and modified games.

Run club is every Friday. Students will earn necklaces and foot charms/tokens for miles achieved as well as recognition for marathon achievement (26 miles).

Parents are invited to come join in the fun. Please sign in at the office and wear a visitor badge.

For student success, please ensure your child is prepared with appropriate shoes. For safety and comfort sandals, flip flops, and shoes with heels are not allowed.
