

STEM Campers take a Mission to Mars

Middle schoolers took a Mission to Mars recently during the OSU-Cascades STEM Camp at Crook County Middle School. Over the course of two days, students collected data on the distance rockets traveled based on a few different variables, explored calorimetry in order to decide what food they'd take with them to Mars, investigated communication with lasers, and predicted what a colony on Mars would look like.

